

CONDÉ NAST

House & Garden

SEPTEMBER 1996 $2.95

Home Again

“The beauty of crystal chandeliers is that they can be enjoyed on an everyday basis. No one has time to be formal anymore. I use them in bedrooms, kitchens, and bathrooms, where they are seen constantly”

Sheila Bridges, Decorator
NEW YORK CITY

Glass

GLASS RANGES in quality from the lighter and less expensive variety made from soda-lime silica to heavier and brighter lead-oxide crystal. According to chandelier expert Nancy Nesle, the better the glass, the less it attracts dust-making good chandeliers almost maintenance free.

BESET BY MOTHS, a crystal-and-steel Russian chandelier, opposite.