LE CREUSET

There's no denying that Le Creuset makes some of the most covetable cookware around. But when you add a Sheila Bridges collaboration into the mix? What you also get is the prettiest cookware around!

The esteemed New York-based designer, known for her famous Harlem Toile de Jouy pattern, teamed up with the beloved French enameled cookware brand on a new collection that's guaranteed to add a dose of fun to your kitchen. Available today, the limited-edition collection is made up of a range of beloved kitchen essentials, all depicting stunning scenes inspired by Black life and culture through the iconic pastoral motifs of French country life. Featured pieces include the beloved signature round dutch oven that has become a mainstay in people's kitchens around the world, as well as a stonewear pitcher and mugs in four different designs.

"The celebration of Black culture through Harlem Toile de Jouy is very meaningful to me, and I'm thrilled to partner with Le Creuset to create an heirloom that can be handed down generation to generation," Bridges says of the collaboration. "Now, consumers can set the table for self-expression and claim a bold piece of design history."

The Le Creuset x Sheila Bridges collection is available now exclusively at Bloomingdales, Le Creuset Signature Stores, and LeCreuset.com. Below, take a peak at the limited-edition pieces, and then head over to the Le Creuset website to take your pick.
